NO. 1. BARKETT, Editor.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 4, 1877.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For State Treasurer,
JAMES W. TATE.

OF FRANKLIN COUNTY.

For State Senator,
SAMUEL E. HILL,
OF OHIO COUNTY.For Representative of Ohio County,
W. D. COLEMAN.

As it should be, on the one hundred and first anniversary of American liberty, peace and quiet reigns throughout the length and breadth of the mightiest government on the face of the globe. Her people are blessed with all that is required to make a nation happy and prosperous. Providence has favored us with a bountiful hand, and lavishly strewed our broad acres, from the wind-rocked Atlantic to the blue Pacific, with a golden harvest. Every hill and vale is carpeted with a waving sea of golden grain, and the emerald-leaved pastures are cropped by innumerable herds, attesting the wealth and prosperity of a free people under the benign reign of a mild, liberal and popular government. Freedom of speech, freedom and toleration in religious matters, and freedom of the political press are the direct and inestimable fruits born on the Fourth of July, 1776, by the signing of the Declaration of Independence, an instrument made imperative and necessary to the freedom of men from the tyranny of foreign rulers. In every land and on every sea the "glorious Fourth" is heralded with an outpouring of joyous, patriotic feeling, and the bright star of the Northern Republic reflects the light of purity into every clime, and warms the hearts of her wandering devotees with a love for home and a veneration for the pure principles upon which the fabric of American liberty are founded.

The roar of artillery and the shouts of millions will rend the air to-day; but the blood of brothers will not be spilled—enough has already been poured upon the altar to feed the fires of liberty for a century to come; it is only the outbursts of patriotic love—giving vent to feelings that should fill the bosom of every American citizen—a joyous offering to that Supreme Being, who shapes the destinies of nations, for the preservation of the priceless jewel handed down as an heirloom through the varied dangers of a century of years, untaught in its beauty and unloved in its purity.

The following resolutions were passed by the Independent Greenback convention of Butler county, held in Morgantown, June 18th, 1877.

Resolved, 1st. That we reaffirm the independent platform adopted at Indianapolis in May, 1876.

2nd. That we demand a larger volume of money and a lower rate of taxation.

3rd. That we demand that all silver coin of the United States be made a full legal tender of all debts.

4th. That we are opposed to withdrawing the greenbacks from circulation under any pretext whatever.

5th. That we are in favor of abolishing the national banking system.

Dr. Woods of the Glasgow Times, shared the same fate of our self, in his aspirations for Legislative honor. At least he was beaten three votes on final ballot, although at the start he was the foremost man. We withdraw for sake of harmony when the vote was taken. It is not a good year for editorial candidates, anyway. We are needed in the offices to battle for the nominees through the columns of our paper. "So vote it be." Hurrah for Hill and Coleman.

The Madisonville, Times and Republican, take up all their time and space, in writing complimentary notices of each other. They surely have formed a "Mutual Admiration Society."

The Grayson Journal has illustrated its first page with a portrait; but we are unable to discover whether it is Gen. Grant, Gen. Sherman or Sam. Harrison.

Editor Herald: June 30, 77.

In writing you last week, I had no other motive in view than to learn Mr. Coleman's strength through the present committee. I did not question his abilities morally, politically or intellectually. I believe Mr. Coleman is a good man, and possessing the requisite qualifications, necessary to make us an honorable member in the House, and one who will guard well our interests; I hope I have not offended any one in the least; I thought when writing that there was a coolness existing in the Democratic ranks, which would cause defeat, if Mr. Coleman remained on the track. There are older heads, and persons who are much better informed in regard to the political situation than myself, and if in their wisdom Coleman is the right, "I am with you." I don't want defeat, I have ever been a genuine Democrat, and am willing to stand every issue for success the first Monday in August. I do think there were much stronger men, and thought it necessary at this time to put forth my agreement our strongest man; in this I hope I may be mistaken, and that W. D. Coleman will come strong in "fight colors." I saw Mr. Coleman, a few days since, and his sentiments are the same. I have great hopes of success. His prospects in this election are not so bright as two weeks since, and we intend to keep the ball rolling onward to victory. E. P. TAYLOR.

The Turk-Russian War.

From the Courier-Journal.

The Grand Duke Nicholas has at length ordered some positive work, and while the Russian batteries at Tigrayev were thundering away at Rustchuk and reducing that town to ruins, yesterday, the Eighth corps crossed the Semenitsa to Sistava, and a similar movement was inaugurated from Turnu-Margurelli to Nicopolis. From these two points a number of roads lead over the Balkan, passing through Pleven, twenty miles south. The difficulties of Abdul Kerim, the Commander-in-chief of the Turkish armies, are apparent. General Zimmerman is moving down through the Dobrujka on the quadrilateral, and the advance of the Grand Duke Nicholas to the west of the four great fortresses will necessitate a judicious division of the Turkish forces, with a narrow chance of escaping annihilation. The head quarters of Abdul Kerim are at Shumla, the strongest point of the quadrilateral, 135 miles southeast of Rustchuk. The majority of the Turkish forces are east of the boundary of the Russian crossing, and largely distributed in the four fortresses of the quadrilateral, there being at Rustchuk alone 50,000 men. The point in Zimmerman's Dilemma is movement is apparent. Every hill and vale is carpeted with a waving sea of golden grain, and the emerald-leaved pastures are cropped by innumerable herds, attesting the wealth and prosperity of a free people under the benign reign of a mild, liberal and popular government. The Cross and the Crescent.

The American people are distant, yet most deeply-interested spectators of the desperate struggle now in progress, between the Moscovite and the Turk. The vast array of forces on either side, the character of the combatants, the relentless, obstinate courage of the Russian, the fanatic valor of the Turk, the complication of interests which demand its solution, to involve all Europe in the strife, and the effect which such a war is likely to have upon the agricultural and industrial pursuits of this country, are points which give to this contest a deep and absorbing interest.

And yet, it is a fact that the mass of Americans are almost wholly without any definite knowledge of the regions most directly and primarily concerned in this war. To most readers of our newspaper, the news from the seat of war is in a large degree unintelligible, from lack of information as to those people and countries. Moreover, the demand for this information has developed the fact that there is not extant any book giving what is wanted in reliable and popular form.

Politics seem to be the all-absorbing theme here, (McLean county), at this time. At least candidates would have us think so. We had a meeting of the "dear people" here, day before yesterday.

We had half a dozen speakers, and only about half the candidates present. They labored (yes, that's the word—"labored") hard to show some difference between them. But the only point upon which they succeeded was upon the point of availability. Each one seemed to be deeply impressed with the idea that he had more of this kind of "ability" than any other. The difficulty with us here, for years, has been just what your county has experienced this year, the satisfactory adjustment of the claims of aspirants for office. We have here-tofore tried to reach this through a convention. And for the last ten years we have failed to elect the man thus chosen. The Democratic nominee has in these instances been defeated in this way. After the convention some man would come out as an independent Democrat. And by rallying to his support all the disaffected Democratic and Republican, the nominee was beaten. The Republicans are not strong enough here to put a candidate of their own in the field with any hope of success. And they are ready to avail themselves of any man or any "thing" to beat the nominee, and thus disorganize the party. This year we are going to try the "Primary Election" plan. Whether this will be more satisfactory than the old way remains yet to be seen. I some disappointed aspirant should see a chance to succeed, by splitting the Democratic party, and by a few lewd speeches (which such men are ever ready to make) gaining the Republican vote, I doubt not it will be done. I mean such political aspirants as have no more Democracy and no more man about them than to do such things. And it doesn't require very much of either to keep a man from such a course. I am sorry to see the outpourings of some little dissatisfaction in regard to the Democratic nominee in your county, (Ohio), especially as looking to a new election. That would be inevitable.
